

MEMORANDUM

DATE: March 24, 2005

TO: Admissions Officers

FROM: Wanda C. White, Director
Student Development Services

SUBJECT: College Redirection Pool

The CFNC College Redirection module will begin its third year in providing additional opportunities to denied admissions applicants to be matched with a college that they may not have initially considered. The College Redirection module will be open for colleges to use on April 1, 2005. The purpose of the College Redirection module is to make available every possible avenue for a student to pursue a post secondary education. This service is provided during the period of April 1 through August 31 to connect college redirected students with North Carolina colleges and universities that still have open admission spaces.

The primary goal of the Redirection module is to insure that every student who agreed to be contracted receive information from at least one college. We are encouraging community colleges to contact students who live within their area. CFNC will be conducting five training sessions across the state between now and March 30, 2005. This training will assist community colleges in downloading student data through the College Redirection module. Please contact Robin Greene, CFNC, at (828) 262-7819 to obtain training information.

Please keep us informed about your successes as well as challenges in using the College Redirection module.
