SUBJECT: Great Directors/Teachers Retreat for Basic Skills

The Great Teacher Retreat, an internationally acclaimed workshop experience, is scheduled at Camp Kanuga in Hendersonville, NC, from March 25-28, 2007. This is a very unique and special professional development experience for Basic Skills directors and teachers. The facilitator will be David B. Gottshall, founder of this workshop that celebrates “greatness” in leadership and teaching.

This is an invitation for “you” and a special “teacher” to attend. We will accept the first 44 participants. Registration begins today. The registration cost of $570 (double room) or $750 (single room) per team will be collected later. Your immediate reply to this memo will reserve your room(s).

The rules of the retreat experience include the following: no whining/griping; no telling of war stories; equal time for all participants to share and learn experiences; and all behavior is positive and productive. Leadership/Teaching innovations, unresolved problems and creative work devices, etc will be discussed in peer group sessions. Directors and teachers will be in separate work groups.

This is your official invitation. Response is needed before Thursday, February 1, 2007. An email list will be established to provide more information for those who will attend.
